RAIN RFID is a wireless technology that connects billions of retail items to the internet, enabling brand owners, retailers and consumers to identify, locate, authenticate, and engage with each item. A consumer-led revolution for omni-channel commerce has placed huge demands on retailers, but RAIN RFID technology is helping to make it easier, faster and more secure for brand owners and retailers to improve inventory management from manufacturing and supply chain to point-of-sale online and in the stores.

RETAIL BENEFITS OF RAIN

For omni-channel retailing, inventory visibility and return processing is more important than ever. RAIN technology provides the best inventory management to increase sales, reduce out-of-stock and overstock, and improve employee and customer satisfaction.
